

There is only one way to look at things until someone shows us how to look at them with different eyes.

Pablo Picasso

